“ Cathy, Brady, and Chantel,
I was very surprised to hear of Floyd's passing. We were friends for many years and even though we had lost contact, when we crossed paths it was as though things had never changed. The last time I saw him was at the Terry Schroeder Family visitation. Our conversation was brief, but meaningful. He still had the same smile I remember from forty-five years ago. My three sons and their families also send their condolences. Dennis, Paul, Chad, and Jerr Quiram

“ Floyd was my neighbor. Over the years I came to know him as a good, decent, kind, wise, generous and tolerant gentleman. My grandchildren would often run to the backyard fence when they saw "Mr. Floyd" and he would take time to talk with them, even though he usually had to take a break from what he was doing in order to visit with them. I regarded him as my friend as well as a good neighbor. We will miss him here in this life, we expect to see Floyd again when we go to be with the Lord too. He will probably be busy trying to convince the Lord Jesus about the best way he thinks something should be fixed or how to grow tomatoes. (He already knows, Floyd. :-)).

“ My deepest sympathies to Cathy and family. I enjoyed working with Floyd at Bemis. He was a great guy to work with. There was a group of us who went tubing on the Mackinaw a couple of times. I believe he was in charge of the cooler. He was a joy to work with. He will always be remembered.

“ Cathy, Brady, Chantel and families, so sorry to hear about Floyd, he was a great neighbor for many years in Roanoke. Floyd knew I collected tea pots so one day he came over and brought me a tea pot that belonged to his mother, I still have it, also have a twelve gallon crock he gave to my husband. He will be missed by everyone who knew him and loved him. Rest in peace Floyd.

“ My sympathy to Floyd's family. While he was a year ahead of me in school, we met frequently at school and at Trinity Church, both in Roanoke. His Pantagraph morning delivery route brought him through my neighborhood when we were in our early teens. If I was up early enough in the summer, we would sit on the picnic table in my yard to discuss world events. Mostly fishing, though. Floyd seemed to have a very practical view of things, and a plan for about everything. Black was the best lure color for fishing at night because it made a better silhouette from below; learning to cast left handed meant you did not have to switch the pole to the other hand to start reeling in (bass were notorious even back then for hitting the lure as soon as it hit the water); and college was not for everyone. Maybe a little talk about girls, but fishing was easier to understand. Rest in peace, Floyd, and God's peace to your family.
