“ Tammy was my first friend, my cousin, and we spent the better part of 9ur childhood being raised together while our father's were in Vietnam. I will always remember staying the night at grandma's in the attic, prank calling the radio stations (you know back when there were rotary dial phones lol), running the neighborhood together down at Nannys, making movies in the basement at your house, camping, vacations with grandparents, so many to list.....I love you, have always loved you. You were the sister I never had and my heart aches from your absence. We will see each other again my dear cousin. Your struggles in this life are over and you are now free to fly with the angels. 💕
